All 392 nursery schools in England are at risk of cuts or closure.

Nursery schools are facing cuts as high as 30% to their budget, or even closure next year.

After 2020, there is no guarantee they'll have the resources they need to keep running

Impact on children:

→ 40,000 children across England could be left without care
→ Headteachers will be forced to cut back on staff and services to balance the books
→ Children with special needs and disabilities will lose out on specialist early years support

While headteachers, school staff and parents have forced the Government to take notice, the Prime Minister has still not guaranteed the funding that nurseries desperately need.
