

QUESTION

Should we have to choose between teachers and books?

If the answer is no,
VOTE YES

A pay rise that has to come out of already stretched school budgets isn't fair and isn't right. The decision of this Government to not fully fund the teacher pay award and ignore the School Teachers' Review Body recommendation is the last straw. Enough is enough. Schools and colleges need to be adequately funded.

Make sure your voice is heard in our indicative action ballot.

HANDS UP
because enough's enough!

VOTE YES

HANDS UP

because enough's enough!

Indicative ballot paper: pay and funding

This is a consultative member survey and indicative ballot under 9.1 of the National Education Union's rulebook.

Please indicate your vote by placing a cross (x) in the boxes below. Please answer all four questions.

Questions

1. Do you believe the Government funding cuts are having a negative impact in your school?

Yes No

2. Do you believe the Government should fully fund and implement its own review body's pay recommendations?

Yes No

3. Do you believe that the NEU should continue to campaign on school funding, including through the School Cuts website and developing alliances with parents?

Yes No

4. Would you be prepared to take part in strike action to secure better funding for schools and the full implementation of the teachers' pay award? *

Yes No

*Please note, this is not a formal ballot. Based on member answers to this question the NEU will determine whether to proceed to a formal ballot.

YES to secure better funding for schools

YES to stop school cuts making your job even harder

YES to fully implement and fund the teachers' pay award